MOSCOW WILL HAVE NOTHING TO DO WITH THE THREE-POWER PACT: MORE LIGHT THROWN ON RECENT GERMAN-SOVIET TALKS

Plan For Invasion Of Palestine Through Asia Minor Opposed

ZURICH, NOV. 28 (REUTERS)—IF THE PLAN TO INVADE PALESTINE AND EGYPT THROUGH ASIA MINOR, ACROSS THE DARDANELLES, EVER EXISTED, IT HAS BEEN ABANDONED OWING TO SOVIET OPPOSITION says the Istanbul correspondent of the NEUEZUEHRER ZEITUNG in a dispatch which claims to throw further light on the recent German-Soviet talks in Berlin.

The correspondent says that Moscow refuses to recognise the Axis as a block with which to negotiate and M. Molotov treated exclusively with Germany on the problems limited to the two co-Axis.

"Moscow will have nothing to do with the Three-Power Pact which is, in effect, an alliance between Germany, Italy and Japan. The Soviet Government proclaimed their attitude to the Pact when, shortly after its conclusion, they told the Chinese Minister in Moscow that they are resolved to continue support of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

GREEK ADVANCE RESUMED

LONDON, Nov. 28 (Reuters)—Greek troops resumed their advance yesterday morning, according to the latest reports from the Albanian front, says the Athens radio.

The Greek radio said yesterday morning that at least two Italian divisions of about 30,000 men have been completely smashed and five others of about 75,000 men in all have been disorganised.

The exact extent of the Greek penetration into Albania is not clear but there is no doubt that they are north of Dogradet, beyond Moshopolis, through Frasher in the centre and only 30 miles from Berat (the pivot-point of the Italian second line of defence).

DETERMINED OPPOSITION Only near the coast are the Italians putting up any determined opposition. The Greeks are still feeling their way cautiously towards Agyro-Castion and the Italians are trying to make a stand in the mountains just south of the city.

TURKISH MINISTER RESIGNS

LONDON, Nov. 28 (Reuters)—The Minister of Commerce in Turkey has resigned and it is believed here that this is possibly in preparation for the reorganisation of the Ministry which is to be converted into a Ministry of Supply.

Other military measures are also being taken.

Today's War Summary

FURTHER LIGHT ON THE RECENT GERMAN-SOVIET TALKS held in the Reich capital is thrown in an article by the Istanbul correspondent of a Swiss newspaper, who says that if a plan ever existed to invade Palestine and Egypt through Asia Minor across the Dardanelles it has been abandoned owing to Soviet opposition. He also writes that Moscow will have nothing to do with the Three-Power Pact.

THE RUMANIAN PRIME MINISTER, GENERAL ANTONESCU, has publicly disclaimed responsibility for the shooting of 84 political prisoners, including most prominent of ex-King Carol's political supporters, in a prison. There is also news of new Governmental powers aimed at curbing further excesses and it has been found necessary to specifically decree the death penalty for cases of premeditated murder.

AN ITALIAN CRUISER AND A DESTROYER WERE DAMAGED in the encounter with British naval units at extreme range in the Mediterranean. The Italian High Command claim to have inflicted damage on a British aircraft-carrier, battleship and cruiser.

THE BRUNT OF ENEMY AIR ATTACKS ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT was borne by a town in South-West England and London and its suburbs. In London the raids were intermittent throughout the night.

SHANGHAI IS FACED WITH THE POSSIBILITY of one of the most serious labour controversies in the city's history with Chinese constables of five police stations in the International Settlement threatening to go on strike for higher wages.

"M. Molotov's first care on returning to Russia was to issue a denial to the American Press report of the forthcoming conclusion of a Russo-Japanese pact to include the clause that Russia should stop helping China."

The correspondent adds that though the Anglo-Russian relations are very cool, Moscow nevertheless is resolved to maintain the existing neutrality and in no circumstances intervene even indirectly in the conflict or join the coalition against Britain.

MAISKY SEES BUTLER LONDON, Nov. 28 (Reuters)—M. Maisky, the Soviet Ambassador, saw Mr. Butler, the Foreign Under-Secretary at the Foreign Office yesterday afternoon.

It is understood that the talks dealt with a general survey of the political situation and topics of mutual interest.

OFFER TO YUGOSLAVIA BERLIN, Nov. 28 (Reuters)—An offer of "closer relations" was made to Yugoslavia by the Hungarian Foreign Minister, Count Csaky, according to an official News Agency message from Budapest.

Count Csaky, who was speaking in the Foreign Affairs Committee of Parliament, coupled the offer with a warning that "voluntary self-limitation is sometimes more profitable than the policy of theoretical independence" and that it was Yugoslavia's interest to have a reliable neighbour in the north.

TURKEY ASSURED ANKARA, Nov. 28 (Reuters)—The German Ambassador to Turkey, Herr von Papen, is reported since his return from Berlin, to have assured the Turkish Government that Germany has no intention of waging a Balkan campaign and no intention of attacking Turkey, but Turkish political circles suspect that his tone would have been different had the Italians been victorious in Greece.

Information reaching Ankara also suggests that the Soviet opposition to the Balkans and this also played a part in forming the German decision.

NEW COMMODORE FOR HONGKONG The Hongkong Daily Press was officially informed that Rear-Admiral A. M. Peters, D.S.C., was relieved as Commodore-in-Charge, Hongkong, on Nov. 27, by Commodore A. C. Collinson.

Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Peters will proceed to the United Kingdom.

ANTONESCUS DISASSOCIATES HIMSELF FROM MASS KILLING OF CAROL'S SUPPORTERS: NEW GOVERNMENT POWER

LONDON, Nov. 28 (Reuters)—The Rumanian State leader, GEN. ANTONESCU, has taken drastic steps to disassociate himself from the mass executions of ex-King Carol's political supporters which took place in the Jilva military prison, near the Rumanian capital, before dawn yesterday.

Following an agitated all-day cabinet meeting, after which Gen. Antonescu and HORIA SIMA, the Iron Guard Chief, both publicly disclaimed responsibility for the shooting of the 84 political prisoners, including the most prominent of Carol's supporters.

News now comes from Bucharest to the Staudal Agency in Rome of new Governmental powers, evidently aimed at curbing further excesses of the rank-and-file action by Nazi-inspired legionnaires—and which incidentally throws a lurid light on the conditions of everyday life in Rumania—since that country adhered to the Axis-Japan Pact.

It has been found necessary to decree specifically the death penalty for cases of premeditated murder, five to ten years' hard labour for persons guilty of kidnapping or attempted kidnapping or breaking into private houses or for trespassing on private property.

The decree also provides for the quick bringing to justice of criminals—all those affected by the decree to be brought to trial within ten days of being arrested.

LATEST VICTIM The latest victim of Rumania's Iron Guard blood-bath is Professor Xoga, a former Prime Minister and one of Rumania's most emi-

PLOT TO MURDER CIVILISATION

SPEAKING OF RECENT EUROPEAN DEVELOPMENTS IN REFERENCE TO THE BALKANS, THE NEW YORK TIMES STATES:

"We are witnessing in Europe a plot to murder civilisation being carried out as systematically as the bombing of London."

"This new order reveals itself for what it is—murder in the name of the 'killer' in the name of Government and famine in the name of redistribution of wealth."

ENEMY RAIDS EAST ANGLIA

LONDON, Nov. 28 (Reuters)—A town in south-east England and its suburbs bore the brunt of an enemy air attack last night.

Attacks on the southwest town started soon after dark and continued until 11.30 a.m. G.M.T. later in the night the enemy tried to force Home Security communications.

In London raids were intermittent throughout the night and at times on a heavy scale.

FEW CASUALTIES In both areas damage was done to dwelling houses and storage buildings by fire and high explosives, but reports up to 5 a.m. show the damage was not extensive and casualties few.

Elsewhere bombs fell in the Home counties in East Anglia and southeast Scotland but little damage was done and the number of casualties was small.

One enemy bomber was destroyed.

RATHER FANTASTIC "It is for this reason that I find it hard to regard that statement that we were on the verge of defeat as anything else but rather fantastic. As a matter of fact, we should only have been too pleased at that time to have met the full weight of the German bomber forces."

"If the correspondent had referred to the difficulties which we were facing over night attacks, I should have been in agreement with him. These night attacks have been more serious than the day attacks and they have confirmed my impression that we were narrowly averting defeat."

"At the time he refers to, however, Herr Hitler was never within measure of having London beaten. (The enemy has certainly taken a lot of punishment and is fighting very carefully now, but at the same time, they have not been delivering any decisive blows."

"This feeling of confidence is supported by our knowledge that behind the people of this country are those of the rest of the Empire."

AIR MARSHAL'S EMPHATIC DENIAL OF AMERICAN WRITER'S CONTENTION THAT BRITAIN WAS ON THE VERGE OF DEFEAT IN MIDDLE OF SEPTEMBER

Erred In His Desire To Dramatise Situation

An emphatic denial of a statement in an article written by an American correspondent that in the middle of September Britain was on the verge of defeat, was given by AIR MARSHAL SIR PHILIP JOUBERT when he broadcast in London yesterday in the series "Britain Speaks."

"I have been reading with interest an article written by an American newspaperman who has given us the benefit of his impressions during his stay with us here in London," said Sir Philip. "I have been in London since October, 1939, and, frankly, I have been astonished at this correspondent's appreciation of what is happening in England."

"People are sometimes apt to lose their sense of proportion, I know, but I am reminded by this article of the man who went to India, spent a week in that country and then went back and wrote a book about the country."

"This correspondent, in his natural desire to dramatise the situation here, has fallen into certain errors. He says that, as a result of the air attacks on England in September last when, had Herr Hitler known it, he could have beaten us. His contention is that Britain's fighting forces were on the verge of complete exhaustion."

"I can say definitely that my own duties in the Air Ministry has brought me into close touch with the Fighter Command and the thing that astonished me at the time was the way in which our losses were quickly made up from reserves and other units."

"It is for this reason that I find it hard to regard that statement that we were on the verge of defeat as anything else but rather fantastic. As a matter of fact, we should only have been too pleased at that time to have met the full weight of the German bomber forces."

"If the correspondent had referred to the difficulties which we were facing over night attacks, I should have been in agreement with him. These night attacks have been more serious than the day attacks and they have confirmed my impression that we were narrowly averting defeat."

"At the time he refers to, however, Herr Hitler was never within measure of having London beaten. (The enemy has certainly taken a lot of punishment and is fighting very carefully now, but at the same time, they have not been delivering any decisive blows."

FURTHER U.S. LOAN FOR CHINA

CHINA IS TO HAVE FURTHER ASSISTANCE IN FIGHTING JAPAN FROM AMERICA, ACCORDING TO A LONDON MESSAGE.

Mr. Jesse Jones is reported to have said: "So long as China is in trouble, the United States wants to give her further aid. The United States is considering a further loan which will take the form of purchases of certain metals which China produces and which are essential for war purposes."

ANNAMITES MOB FRENCH PLANTER

TOKYO, Nov. 28 (Reuters)—Another Annamite riot broke out near Cholon, which is near Saigon, on Nov. 25 when the French proprietor of a plantation was assaulted by a mob, according to Japanese reports reaching here from Hanoi.

The riot was caused by the police in co-operation with the military authorities, they add.

It will be recalled that Annamite riots broke out in southern French Indo-China on Nov. 23-24 but the situation had since returned to normal, the reports conclude.

GERMANY A COUNTRY OF HOMICIDAL MANIACS

"When I first went to Germany, my first impression was that I had come to a country of homicidal maniacs and that impression is justified," said SIR ROBERT VANSITTART, Chief Diplomatic Adviser to the British Government, when he broadcast in London yesterday.

"In my talk last week," said Sir Robert. "I told you how the German people had behaved to their neighbours. Today I want to point out some of the characteristics of the German mind. I read in a German newspaper a few days ago this statement 'England should know now that we do not joke.'"

"Yes, we do know that," said Sir Robert. "If you look back into the black record of Germany you will find it is so and the authors of jokes in Germany now are sent to concentration camps. That is why the Germans cannot understand why no one loves them."

Here is Field Marshal Goering who says Germany has no designs against Czechoslovakia. I pledge my solemn word and honour that we have only one wish for better relations between the two countries. So much for the Marshal's honour which he pledged in 1938.

UTMOST SAVAGERY Sir Robert went on to refer to German books which gloried over war as "the noblest of activities." These books, he said, urged the utmost savagery in conducting total war. A German hero had once said that "a conquered people should be left nothing but their eyes to weep with."

"Have you wondered why the ex-Kaiser has been left unmolested so long in Germany?" asked Sir Robert. "It is because his policy was exactly the same as Herr Hitler's—a policy of aggrandisement with a hatred for peace."

Referring to the last war, Sir Robert said that the Germans had boasted of how well they planned and executed the war. "That was while they were winning," he said, "and when they lost, they protested their innocence."

"And after that war, many people hastened to ask that the German people be given another chance. It came in 1939. Every time you give the butcher bird another chance, he will give you another war and every time his intended victims show signs of drawing together, there comes the usual talk of encirclement and the victims have been stupid enough to listen to this cry."

KAISER'S BID Referring to the last war and the Kaiser's bid for world domination, Sir Robert said: "Fortunately for the world, that failed too. The Kaiser ran away and the Germans said it was his fault. It was not."

"And then the Germans cried out at the reparations, but the figures of the reparations demanded of them are never compared now with those that the poor, poor Germans have imposed on the poor, poor French."

"What will you do if you lose the war?" a neutral once asked a German.

"We will organise sympathy," was the reply.

"Herr Hitler will fall too, but not for want of calculation," said Sir Robert. "Someone recently suggested that Herr Hitler's policy is guided by brain storms. It is not. He has been perfectly true to type from the start. There is nothing abnormal about him except physically. His physical defects are no doubt irritating, but they do not account for his policy of fraud and force and force and fraud. That is the true German policy."

SAVOY HOTEL DAMAGED

LONDON, Nov. 28 (BWS)—It can now be stated the Savoy and Carlton Hotels are among London buildings damaged in recent enemy air raids.

The town hall at Leicester has also suffered damage and the convent of the Sacred Heart at Southampton, on the south-west outskirts of London, must be added to the long list of religious and educational premises which have been bombed.

CURRENT FILM AT KING'S

"One Million B.C."

It isn't often that a director like Hal Roach makes a film which is so different from the rest of his work. "One Million B.C." is a spectacular pageant of prehistoric times, which he directed and which is now showing at the King's Theatre. It is tops as entertainment. Roach beat to the punch those inevitable members of the film-going public who delight in ignoring the forest to point out that the moss is growing on the wrong side of the trees. There is a lot of fighting between cave men and dinosaurs in the picture. That's all wrong.

ITALIAN BLUFF CALLED

HERR HITLER IN A DILEMMA

LONDON, Nov. 28 (Reuter)—The problem before Herr Hitler is not whether to help Signor Mussolini but how, says The Times Diplomatic correspondent.

In all parts of the Balkans not tied to the Axis, he writes, soldiers and peasants are realising that the Greeks are calling the Italian bluff. The Turks have always been resolute against the dangers from without and their leaders are showing a sense of wise strategy.

The peoples of Yugoslavia recall their own fights for freedom as they watch the Greeks and they see the shame that comes from submission when they watch the Rumanians.

In Bulgaria, the Government group has suddenly stopped its loud boasting that Bulgaria was already within the Axis net. These stirrings seem to be noticed both in Rome and in Berlin.

Successful Raid On Valona Harbour

CAIRO, Nov. 28 (Reuter)—In the Western Desert, Garnulgrein, Birsofati, Sidi Barrani and Madalem were raided. A motor transport and enemy camps were attacked at these places. One British aircraft was lost.

A successful raid was also carried out on Harat Island. In this raid, one British aircraft was lost but the crew were rescued while one enemy fighter was shot down.

Enemy troop concentrations at Dangila were attacked, all bombs falling in the target area, but clouds of smoke and dust prevented an estimate of the extent of the damage.

A formation of enemy fighters flew over Malta on Wednesday at a great height, but only three could be engaged. One enemy was brought down. One British fighter was lost.

RETREAT HARASSED
The communique also reports that a column of Italian troops retreating in the Cepelene area was attacked by British aircraft and heavy casualties were caused.

A stick of bombs fell across the aerodrome of Kefeyre, one bomb exploding close to an aircraft on the ground.

DIRECT HITS SCORED
R.A.F. bombers successfully raided Valona harbour yesterday despite intensive anti-aircraft and enemy fighter opposition, says an official communique.

Direct hits were obtained on a big ship which was seen sinking before the R.A.F. started the return journey.

Quays and the docks area were damaged and aerodrome buildings were destroyed.

One enemy fighter was shot down.

Interpreted in some quarters as an indication that the Soviet will not join the Axis Pact, the correspondent adds.

NAZI COMMERCE RAIDER LOOSE IN PACIFIC

British Steamer Attacked And Sunk In Indian Ocean

CANBERRA, Nov. 28 (Reuter)—The British merchantman, Port Brisbane, was sunk in the middle of the Indian Ocean five days ago by a German raider, announced Mr. W.M. Hughes, Australian Navy Minister, yesterday.

An Australian warship has arrived at an Australian port with 27 survivors. The remainder of the Port Brisbane's company, including a woman passenger, are prisoners aboard the raider.

The Port Brisbane, 8,700 tons, is registered in London.

The attack took place at night. The raider lit up the Port Brisbane with searchlights and opened fire at a range of over a mile.

STEERING DISABLED

The third salvo wrecked the wireless room and the fourth hit the bridge and disabled the wireless room and the fourth hit the bridge and disabled the steering gear.

The Port Brisbane was subsequently abandoned, the ship's company taking to lifeboats. The occupants of two boats were taken prisoner but those in the third succeeded in escaping detection.

The raider then sent a boarding party which placed time-bombs aboard the Port Brisbane. A number of these were heard to explode and the raider later fired a torpedo into the ship and made off.

ANOTHER VICTIM?

During a search made by a rescuing Australian warship, according to Mr. Hughes' announcement, an empty lifeboat belonging to the British merchantman, of 8,000 tons, was sighted. It is believed that the Maimo's crew are also prisoners aboard the raider.

CHAIN OF U.S. NAVAL BASES

ROOSEVELT MAKES HUGE ALLOTMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (Reuter)—President Roosevelt has allotted $50,000,000 for the immediate development of a chain of naval bases on the sites recently acquired from Britain in exchange for destroyers, announced Col. Frank Knox, United States Navy Secretary, yesterday.

The mobilisation of increased numbers of reserve forces was also announced by Col. Knox who stated that he had notified an additional class of naval and marine reserves, numbering nearly 32,000, that they should prepare for the call to active duty at any moment.

Additional divisions of organised naval reserves from New York and New Jersey are also being mobilised for active duty with destroyers operating in the vicinity of the Panama Canal.

Col. Knox added that agreement on the site of the Trinidad base was reached with the local authorities but as far as he knew, the formalities in connection with obtaining approval from London were not completed.

HEAVY R.A.F. ATTACK ON ROYAL ARSENAL AT TURIN

LONDON, Nov. 28 (Reuter)—The Royal Arsenal at Turin was attacked by heavy R.A.F. bombers on Wednesday night. It was raided only four nights ago and this second attack has greatly increased the damage.

Many fires were started among the factory buildings and many high explosive bombs were dropped. When the last of the British bombers had left, a huge fire could be seen.

Though the Turin arsenal was badly damaged, the main strength of the R.A.F. attack was on the armament factory and other targets in Cologne.

BERLIN ALSO BOMBED.

Railways in Berlin, shipping and docks at Rotterdam, Flushing, Antwerp, Calais, Boulogne, and the naval base at Lorient and oil dumps at Ghent were also attacked while enemy aerodromes in occupied territory were bombed and shipping off the Dutch coast was harried.

Five British planes, says the Air Ministry, failed to return from all these operations.

SOVIET AND BULGARIA

Cultural Relations Of Two Countries Is Stressed

MOSCOW, Nov. 28 (Reuter)—The interview between King Boris of Bulgaria and M. Sobolov, leader of the Soviet Delegation to the Danube Conference, is noted without comment in the Soviet Press yesterday.

The return of the Bulgarian Minister to Germany, M. Dragano, to Sofia is mentioned with a remark, attributed to well-informed quarters, that he is not bearing a protocol to the Axis-Japan Pact.

For the second successive day, Pravda refers to the cultural relations between Russia and Bulgaria and quotes as an example the successful production of Soviet plays in Sofia and Burgas.

BRITISH PROPOSALS

LONDON, Nov. 28 (Reuter)—Russia has still not replied to the comprehensive British proposals of a few weeks ago the principal points of which were de facto recognition of Soviet annexation of the Baltic States and a guarantee of non-aggression.

Lord Addison (Labour), had given notice to raise this question of British relations with Russia in the House of Lords yesterday but at the last moment he announced without explanation that he did not intend to pursue the matter.

Jap. Protest To N.E.I.

LONDON, Nov. 28 (Reuter)—A new Japanese note in the Pacific was announced yesterday.

Japan is to protest to the Netherlands East Indies Government, says the Domei agency against a series of anti-Japanese acts that are alleged to have occurred there recently.

These include Japanese iron works owners in Batavia who were attacked and injured by Dutch policemen on Nov. 11, a Japanese flag in Bandoeng burned on Nov. 23, a Japanese Consular official arrested on the same day outside the official residence of the Governor-General and wrongly accused, adds the agency, of photographing the residence.

PARLEY OFF?

TOKYO, Nov. 28 (Reuter)—The first official hint that Mr. Koba-yashi, special envoy to the Netherlands East Indies, will probably not be returning to Batavia for negotiations was given by the Foreign Office spokesman, who said that nobody may go in his stead.

IMMIGRATION BILL DEBATED AT COUNCIL MEETING

REDUCTION MADE IN FEES FOR RESIDENTIAL CERTIFICATES

Attorney-General Replies To Chinese Members

WHEN THE IMMIGRATION BILL WAS MOVED IN COMMITTEE, AFTER THE SECOND READING HAD BEEN PASSED, AT THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL MEETING YESTERDAY AFTERNOON, it was agreed that the fees for residential certificates of four years and ten years be reduced from $10 to $6 and from $5 to $2, respectively.

Replying to a debate in which the three Chinese members, Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo, Hon. Dr. Li Shu-fan and Hon. Mr. W. N. Thomas Tam, spoke, expressing regret that a Bill of this nature was found necessary at the present time, the Attorney-General (Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, O.B.E., K.C.) said that it was not desirable at the moment to reduce other fees but it was the intention of Government to treat this question sympathetically.

The Attorney-General also made it clear that no permits were necessary for persons who were not going away from the Colony.

His Excellency the Acting Governor, Lt.-Gen. E. F. Norton, C.B., D.S.O., M.C., said that he was particularly anxious to get the Bill passed without controversy or division and he was gratified that there had been no serious controversy on the subject.

HON. MR. M. K. LO

The Hon. Mr. L. said:—
Your Excellency: As Chinese constitute some 98 per cent. of the population of the Colony, any measure such as that contemplated by this Bill is a matter of very great concern to them. I propose, therefore, shortly to state the position of my Chinese colleagues and myself on this question.

For reasons indicated by my Honourable friend the Attorney-General in his Objects and Reasons, we cannot but recognise that this measure is a painful necessity in these difficult times. Accordingly we accept the principle of this Bill, and have directed our attention only to its detailed provisions in order to satisfy our own minds that they do not impose a minimum of inconvenience on the community compatible with the attainment of the end in view.

The permission granted by my Honourable friend the Secretary for Chinese Affairs to state that this Bill was referred by Government to the District Watch Committee for their consideration enables me to acknowledge with gratitude the helpful attitude of the Attorney-General in regard to suggestions made by the District Watch Committee for certain amendments, which were all readily accepted by him and are now embodied in the Bill before the Council.

TWO POINTS

The Bill has also received the careful consideration of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, whose observations (like those received from other sources) have been forwarded to Government. The Chamber's observations are directed chiefly to two points, namely, the provisions of section 7, and the fees set out in the Schedule.

As regards section 7, the Chamber points out that unnecessary hardship and inconvenience will be caused to passengers in possession of valid papers if they too have to proceed to the Immigration Office and remain there until permitted to leave. Personally I have always visualised that passengers whose title to land is clearly established by their papers, would be allowed to land by the Immigration Officer, and that only those whose cases require further investigation would be directed to proceed to the Immigration Office. I hope to receive an assurance from Government that my understanding is correct.

As regards the fees the Chamber suggests that they are too high, and should be reduced by fifty per cent.

Whilst it is appreciated that the fees are designed not to bring in revenue, but to make the Immigration administration self-supporting, I feel that it must be borne in mind that the administrative measures contemplated by this Bill are in the interests of the Colony as a whole, and that accordingly the burden should not necessarily fall only on those whose movements bring them within the provisions. Accordingly I hope that the question of the reduction of the fees may be considered in committee.

CHEERFULLY BORNE

The effect of this measure on the Colony depends, in our view, very largely on how it will be administered by the Immigration Officer. If it is administered sympathetically, and if the Immigration Officer succeeds in building up and maintaining a staff efficient in the discharge of their duties, untainted with corruption, or with even a suspicion of corruption, then we feel that any inconvenience will be cheerfully borne. My colleagues and I intend to maintain a close interest in the operation of this measure, and we shall have no hesitation in making to Government any representations which we may consider it our duty so to do.

Sir, had the circumstances been different, the Colony would now be in the midst of its preparations for celebrating its Centenary next year, and in the course of that celebration the interdependence of this Colony with China in general, and with the Province of Kwangtung in particular, would have received added emphasis.

To me, at least, it is a matter of great sadness and profound regret that for the first time in its history, now approaching its Centenary, the Colony should find itself compelled to pass a measure which puts an end to the right of free and unrestricted movement between this Colony and China. But the terrible war now raging on two continents have brought about many unpleasant changes, and I feel and believe that Chinese in the Colony will accept this latest unpleasant change with their characteristic philosophic calm and understanding.

HON. DR. LI SHU-FAN

The Hon. Dr. Li Shu-fan said:—
Your Excellency: As the present Bill is of such momentous importance to the general welfare of the Colony, I feel it my duty to make a few remarks.

I desire to say that I heartily endorse the views so lucidly set out by my senior Chinese colleague, who has dealt with the various aspects of the problem so ably that I have little to add.

While I agree with the principle of the Bill, I share the Hon. Mr. Lo's view that the effect of the measure on the Colony largely depends on the interpretation of the proposed ordinance.

I should like to point out that the average Chinese generally looks at immigration measures, however mild, with askance. If this were not a war-time measure, it would have been viewed by the Chinese with the utmost concern.

While it is gratifying to note that Government undertakes to re-examine the problem when the situation permits, I fervently hope that when the semblance of normalcy should return or if, and when the ordinance should prove to be detrimental to the Colony, it would be amended or repealed without hesitation.

CIVIL AND TACTFUL

With these points in view, I feel that in the administration of the ordinance, the officials should be civil, sympathetic, tactful, and with despatch, in the execution of their duties.

I trust this statement will not be taken as casting any reflection on the present Immigration Officer, who, in my opinion, is highly qualified, and I venture to think that his appointment is a very happy choice.

Although this is an emergency measure, I feel it calls for thorough organisation and accurate adjustment in accordance with circumstances.

For instance, it is to be expected that the depots and places of detention should be provided with reasonable amenities, and that the immates, while they are rightly guarded from escape, they should not be considered, or treated as ordinary prisoners.

The issuing of entry permits and Residence Certificates should not be so drastically restricted as to cause undue hardship, or to defeat the object of the present Bill, leading thereby to widespread bribery, or wholesale smuggling of immigrants into the Colony.

RARE OCCASIONS

In regard to the maximum cash security of $250, I sincerely trust that the amount normally demanded will be small, in strict accordance to the status of the individual, and the distance from home in relation to repatriation, and that the maximum or the larger amounts will be demanded only on rare occasions. It is my view that every visitor of means is an economic asset to the Colony.

At the present moment there is a large number of Chinese, who are under the false impression that, according to the Immigration Bill, it is necessary to possess Residence Certificates, before they are permitted to reside in the Colony.

Despite previous announcements, I should like to urge that the Government should do its utmost to remove such false impressions by making clear announcements designed to achieve this end. I believe this action would result also in diminishing the large number of applicants, who are at present thronging the Immigration premises.

HON. MR. THOMAS TAM

The Hon. Mr. W. N. Thomas Tam said:—

Your Excellency: While I have no hesitation in supporting this Bill, it is nevertheless with a sense of regret that such a measure should have been found necessary for Hongkong.

Men of goodwill must deplore the existence of legislation anywhere and in any form which has the effect of curtailing the liberty of the individual to travel or to establish residence; for such restrictions often create misunderstanding and discontent and can have no place in a desirable world order.

My Senior colleague has made it clear that the Chinese members of this Council are supporting this measure only because they can find no other practical solution to the problems confronting us in Hongkong. It is an imperfect remedy, but readily accepted in the hope of removing a greater imperfection.

As an example of our difficulties, we need only look at our social services, for which incessant and increasing demands have been made on our finances both public and private. While not wishing to shirk our proper responsibilities, it is obvious that there is a limit to our resources. Our hospitals are overcrowded, the refugee camps are full. There is congestion in our prisons and our known charitable institutions are taxed to capacity.

STILL WELCOME

I am convinced that there is no intention on the part of Government to be unsympathetic towards those who desire to find asylum here. These people are still welcome, if they can take care of themselves or be cared for, but to those who may become a public burden as soon as they arrive, this Colony is reluctantly compelled to close its gates.

It is regrettable to have to turn away those who have no means of livelihood, but unless we can feed them or offer them work, it is a dubious privilege for them to be admitted only to starve in our streets.

The charitably inclined will no doubt bear in mind that the scope for their good work remains the same. While the destitute may not come here, they are still present in alarming numbers besides the many who remain in adjacent territories who need help.

On grounds of humanity, it is hoped that restrictions will be relaxed to admit those who may have to suffer bombing in the future, although the area to which admission may be given may only be a small one and confined to the New Territories.

ASSURANCE SOUGHT

My colleagues and I would be grateful if Government would give us an assurance that it is not proposed to raise revenue by this Bill and that the income from fees should exceed by an appreciable amount the cost of administration.

CHRIST CHURCH SONG SERVICE

Splendid Programme Arranged

Lovers of music will be pleased to know that there will be a special evening song service in Christ Church, Kowloon Tong, on Sunday, Dec. 1, at 5.30 p.m.

A splendid programme of sacred music has been arranged, which will be sung by the choir of the Mandarin congregation, a choir which has already made itself well-known throughout the Colony for its excellent work, and ranks as one of the best choirs in the Colony.

Mr. Y. K. Szee, who since his arrival in the Colony has delighted large and numerous audiences by his fine bass voice, and wonderful technique, will sing a solo, and will assist the choir in choral works.

Dr. C. T. Wang, former Chinese Ambassador in Washington, will give a short address in Chinese and English.

The bulk of the service will be in English, and the hymns for congregational singing are chosen so that the words and verses can be sung together in Chinese and English, to well-known tunes, taken from the Chinese hymnbook, "Hymns of Universal Praise" and from the "English Hymnal." All are cordially invited.

then a reduction in fees would be considered. It would however be a popular gesture, if Government were prepared now with the experience already derived from the working of the Immigration Department to agree to a reduction of the fees.

The demands which have been made for certificates in anticipation of the passing of this Bill appear to be beyond the ability of the existing organisation to deal with them. While it is not suggested that a large personnel be immediately acquired, as the present demands may dwindle after the first rush is over, it is hoped that increased facilities for supplying forms will be provided.

Finally I venture to echo what the Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo has said concerning administration, and I trust that in carrying out the law, red tape and bureaucracy will be guarded against, not forgetting that Hongkong lives as an entrepot for shipping and shipping includes passengers as well as cargo.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Replying for the Government, the Attorney-General said he was grateful for the helpful speeches and for the trouble taken by the Chinese members of the Council in assisting the Government advisers and, in particular, he thanked the Hon. Mr. Lo.

The senior Chinese member had referred to Clause 7 of the Bill and had asked for an assurance in respect of that. He (the Attorney-General) read the clause exactly as Mr. Lo did and could give him that assurance. He would go further and say that Mr. Forrest, the Immigration Officer, also read the clause as Mr. Lo did and it was his intention to give every facility to those persons in possession of proper papers to land without difficulty. The administration would pursue their task in the interests of passengers and shipping generally and would not cause obstruction.

QUESTION OF FEES

The Attorney-General went on to say that with regard to the question of fees, these were reducible, and increaseable by His Excellency the Governor in Executive Council. The fee for certificate of four years residence (valid for five years) would be reduced from $10 to $6 and for certificates of ten years residence (valid for five years) would be reduced from $5 to $2. It was not desirable at the moment to reduce the other fees but it was the intention of Government to treat this question sympathetically.

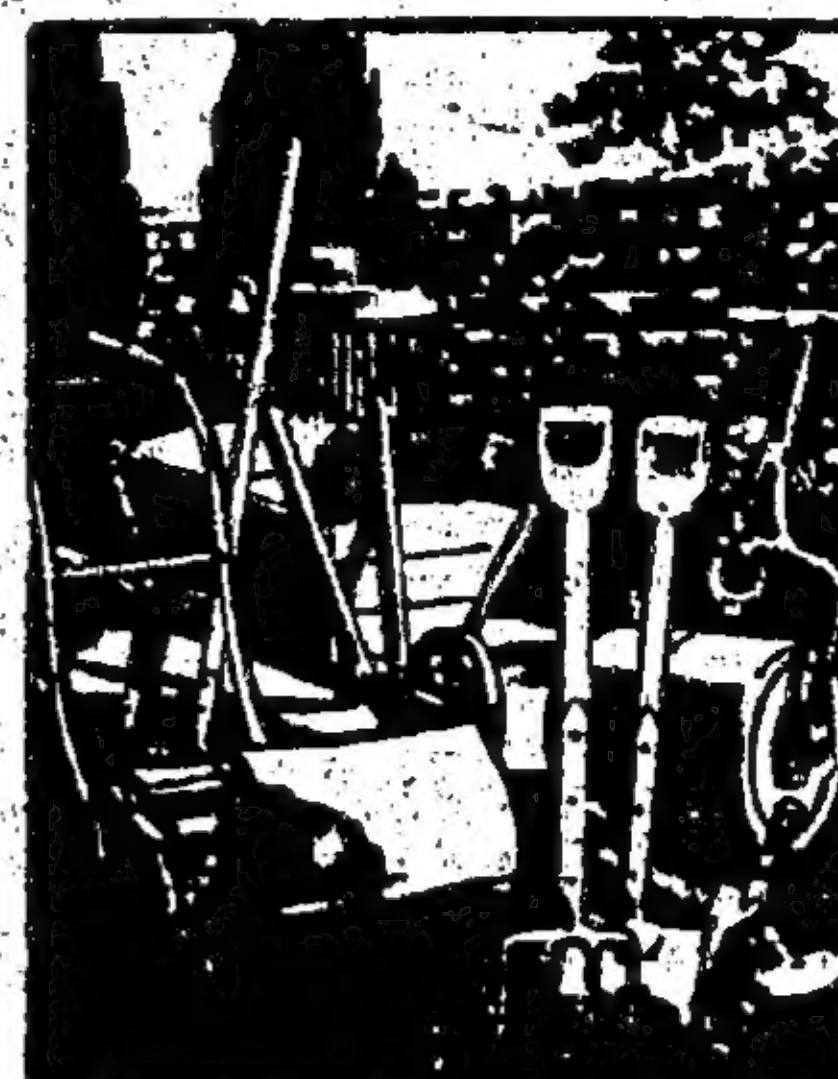

The object of the Bill was not to raise revenue but it was a necessary part of its object that it was a necessary part of its object that it should in these days be administered as economically as possible and that, as far as possible, it should pay for the undertaking. If there was a surplus he had no doubt the Government would consider reduction of fees on that ground alone. It was probable that the fees would not exceed the cost of the administration concerned.

NOT HOSTILE

In conclusion, the Attorney-General assured Hon. Mr. Lo, and Hon. Mr. Tam that the Government was not hostile to the Bill.

Axis Muddle

WITH THE INCREASING EVIDENCE that has come to hand of the Balkan States, other than those who have allowed themselves to be tricked into joining the Axis Powers, drawing closer together to defend their neutrality against aggression, political observers are becoming more and more convinced that Herr Hitler will be compelled to make a big alteration in his plans. The brilliant success with which the Greeks have beaten off the Italian attack has clearly proved where the weakest point of the Axis lies. The effect of this debacle has been more far-reaching than was anticipated. The undisputed mastery which the British Fleet holds in the Mediterranean has contributed to the difficult position in which Herr Hitler and his ally now find themselves. Attempts to bully Bulgaria and Yugoslavia into their camp, in a desperate move to offset the Italian fiasco, appear to have met with similar failure and any hope that the Axis partners might have had of using domination in the Balkan States to threaten Turkey into passive submission have now vanished. Herr Hitler's expectations of some encouraging sign from Russia to make the risk of a drive through the Balkans worth the risk have also failed to materialise.

THE GERMAN FUEHRER must be in a chagrined mood today. The disappointments of the last few days have probably made him realise how deep he has involved himself and it seems almost certain now that he will have to abandon his Balkan plan. It is generally agreed, however, that he must do something if he is to retain the remaining vestiges of power with which he has clothed himself and, incidentally, help his ally out of his present predicament. What is the next alternative left open to him? Should he leave his Italian partner to his fate and concentrate on his attack on England or should he continue with his drive to the East where large stores of oil,

Watchmen Gaoled

Found Guilty by a unanimous verdict, three district watchmen who were charged with stealing wolfram ore and demanding money with menaces, were sentenced by the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday. The accused were Ng Hin, Yip Wing-sheung and Tse Kwong.

Ng Po, unemployed, who was charged jointly with the first accused for demanding money, was found Not Guilty and was discharged.

Mr. J. P. Murphy, Assistant Crown Solicitor, was for the prosecution. Mr. D. J. N. Anderson, instructed by Mr. H. A. de Barros Botelho, appeared on behalf of the first accused and Ng Po, and Mr. Percy Chen, instructed by Mr. C. A. Sutherland Russ, defended Yip and Tse.

The jury comprised Messrs. M. J. Rouban (Foreman), Li Yuk-tong, E. E. Huttemer, Mak Hui-fan, Fung Yin-po, Lui Sai-chi and Hing-cheung Poon.

First accused was sentenced to two years' hard labour while the second and third were sentenced to a year and six months' hard labour, respectively.

of which he is in dire need, await him as a reward—if he succeeds? It is impossible to see how either plan can succeed. The months which have passed since he first threatened to bring Britain to her knees have rendered his plans for invasion even more difficult of accomplishment and has enabled Britain to prepare the best equipped and best trained fighting force in history for his reception. Herr Hitler's mind, however, is obsessed with the idea of gaining his dreams of power by predatory methods and no one can be sure how it must be working at the present moment.

IF HE DECIDES against the attack on England, he must continue his push to the East and if he abandons his Balkan campaign, where will his next move be directed? A political commentator recently made the statement that the key to the Mediterranean was at Vichy. He refused to explain the grounds for this assertion, but said that the course of events would make it clear in due time. A day later came the report that the Vichy Government had decided to appoint a new High Commissioner for Syria and that M. Schlappe had been selected for the office. The relation between this appointment and Herr Hitler's plans may be speculation, but it appears to bear out the idea that Herr Hitler has once again directed his attention on Vichy and demanded co-operation from the French puppets. Syria holds an important position in any Mediterranean plan. The authorities there had been showing distinct leanings towards General de Gaulle's mobilisation of the French Colonies to his flag. M. Schlappe, who gained an unenviable reputation in the Stavisky scandal, and who is a member of M. Laval's clique, has now been sent to Syria apparently to smother this pro-Gaulle sentiment and to make preparations for helping the Axis for a concerted drive through Egypt. Such help, if it can be reinforced with the French naval units, would be invaluable to Herr Hitler and might make it possible for him to help the Italians. It will be an enormous undertaking and the insurmountable obstacle presented by British naval supremacy in the Mediterranean will still remain a vital factor against the possibilities of its success.

SIR SHENTON THOMAS ENTERTAINED BY CHINESE COUNCILLORS

A cocktail party in honour of HIS EXCELLENCY SIR SHENTON THOMAS, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Straits Settlements, was given yesterday at the Roof Garden of the Hongkong Hotel by the Hon. Sir Robert Kotewall, the Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo, the Hon. Dr. Li Shu-fan and the Hon. Mr. W. N. Thomas Tam.

Welcoming Sir Thomas in a short speech, Sir Robert Kotewall said: I would like to express the very great pleasure which my colleagues and I feel in having with us His Excellency Sir Shenton Thomas this evening.

This is, I believe, the first occasion on which a Governor of Malaya spends several days in Hongkong, and this singular event is the more welcome to us in that it has afforded representative members of the Chinese community an opportunity to meet and personally to pay their respects to Sir Shenton Thomas.

We trust that his and Lady Thomas' sojourn here is pleasant, and will be fruitful of mutual benefits to Malaya and Hongkong. We can proffer them no greater wish than that the prosperous and progressive country which Sir Shenton Thomas has governed with such signal success will continue to enjoy the blessings of peace.

SIR SHENTON'S REPLY

Replying, Sir Shenton Thomas expressed his high appreciation of the honour afforded him by the occasion to meet all present.

He would remember always with gratitude the willing and skilful help and advice he received from responsible members of the Chinese community in Malaya.

It would perhaps be new to most of those present that he had been here, once before—32 years ago—while passing through from Shanghai en route to Singapore. He had never forgotten the attraction of this city and was glad after a break of so many years to have again an opportunity of renewing acquaintance.

If he was, indeed, the first Governor to be entertained here, the honour accorded him he would

Acting Governor Inspects Stanley Prison: Impressed With Smart Turn-Out

HIS EXCELLENCY THE ACTING GOVERNOR, LIEUT. GENERAL E. F. NORTON, C.B., D.S.O., M.C., visited Stanley Prison yesterday morning on an official inspection tour. In the course of the visit, His Excellency inspected also the Stanley Prison and Indian Guard Company and was shown the A.R.P. Post and Assembly Station at the Prison Officers' Quarters.

HIS EXCELLENCY, who was accompanied by an Hon. A.D.C., Mr. K. A. Bidehead, Superintendent of Police, was met at the gate by the Commissioner of Prisons, Major J. L. Willecks, D.S.O., M.C., and the Acting Superintendent of the Prison, Mr. R. Barrett.

The Stanley Prison and Indian Guard Company paraded on the open area to the south-west side of the prison and to the left of the main gate, under the command of Lieut. J. W. FitzGerald, R.E.V.D.C., who is also Assistant Superintendent of the Prison.

His Excellency addressed the Prison and later the Indian Guard Company, speaking to the Indian Guards in Hindustani. He had been very pleased to learn, His Excellency said, that every one of the Prison Officers at Stanley had applied for voluntary military duty before there was even an intimation of the present war. He was much impressed also by the smart appearance of the men on parade.

GUARDS INSPECTED

In the prison compound, His Excellency inspected also the Guard Company, under Sgt. Wall Mohammed, which paraded outside the guardroom to the right of the inner gate. His Excellency conversed also in Hindustani with the Chief Indian Warder, Rahmat Khan, and commented on the smart turnout of the Guard Company.

On his tour of the prison, His Excellency was first shown the workshops of the concrete block-making industry, where the prisoners turn out 300 bricks a day that are being used in the prison's A.R.P. defence scheme for splinter-proof shelters. There are two cement block-making machines employed, these being worked by hand.

His Excellency then saw the various workshops—the blacksmiths, carpenters, boot-makers, coil-mating makers, tin-smiths and rattan workers' shops where a number of the prisoners employed are engaged in crafts they had learned in the outside world.

The tailor-shop, Stanley Prison's largest enterprise, was the last of the workshops visited by His Excellency. Here, prison uniforms are made and a variety of other articles of apparel. Several long-term prisoners and some of those serving life terms are engaged in tailoring.

AT THE COOKHOUSE

His Excellency then saw the cookhouse and examined the various foods rationed out. Prisoners are given two meals a day, one in the morning and the other in the late afternoon, and receive also a ration of a pint of congee at mid-day. Six months after entering the prison, the men serving long terms receive an additional ration of 4 oz. of rice.

They are given white rice twice a week and red rice the other five days, to conform with a diet recommended by medical authority. They receive beans in their congee on Tuesdays and sugar on Thursdays. Daily a change of vegetables in season—cabbage, marrow, bean shoots or sweet potatoes is given and a meat ration.

Before the visit to the cookhouse, His Excellency was shown the alarm system at the Central Control Station, and he later visited the "A" Hall where he saw the cell combination and equipment. A noticeable feature of the equipment laid out in the cells were the many books. These came from the prison library.

His Excellency also visited the Prison Hospital and operating room, and concluded his tour in the Administration Block, where he signed the prison diary, and expressed himself as being well pleased with what he had seen.

Mr. Beattie, of No. 3 Bremond Terrace, has reported that at 9 p.m. on Wednesday night his dog, a black and white Mongol spaniel, bit his amah, Lai Loi, who was sent to the Queen Mary Hospital. While this dog was being taken to the police station it collapsed and died on the way.

AIDING FISHERMEN OF HONGKONG

Miss Phyllis Harrop Opens Charity Bazaar

"The more money we spend the more we help those who need help. Therefore, I say, spend and spend all you can."

With these words MISS PHYLLIS HARROP, Lady Assistant to the S. C. A., opened the Hongkong Fishermen's Union Charity Bazaar at the To Da Restaurant, in West Point at 1.30 p.m. yesterday, the fourth anniversary of the establishment of the Union.

Seated upon a specially built platform were Miss Harrop, Rev. Fr. T. Ryan, S. J., Rev. Fr. J. O'Meara, S. J., Mr. Ip Lan-chuen, J. P., Chairman of the Hongkong Manufacturers' Association, Mr. Chang Tse-lin, member of the National Relief Association and Chairman of the Bazaar, Mr. Tse Fun-sang, Chairman of the H. K. Another stand has a varied assortment of beautiful black Foochow lacquer trays at reasonable prices, while bronzes of Sun Yat-sen and Washington are also for sale.

Four four-foot fishing junks, the exact model replicas of the sea going type, are on exhibit and attracted much attention. All articles on sale are handicraft products.

TRAGIC TOUCH

A tragic touch was added to the fair, with the exhibition of a large painting depicting a Japanese gunboat shelling a concentration of Chinese fishing junks, whose occupants were perishing in the flames, while in the foreground stood a stalwart, stripped to the waist, holding the Chinese national flag in one hand and a sword dripping with Japanese blood in the other.

It was pointed out by the Secretary that the Association helps fishermen victims, whose junks had been burned by the Japanese. Gratitude was expressed for the aid of all foreign friends.

Stricter British Blockade Of Germany Will Help To Win The War Sooner

"THE BRITISH BLOCKADE WILL SOONER OR LATER WIN THE WAR—THE STRICTER THE BLOCKADE THE SOONER IT WILL BE WON."

This was the theme of a talk given in London yesterday on the food situation in Nazi controlled Europe and the German plans for their co-called new order.

The speaker referred to a recent statement which had been issued by the German Ministry of Economics that the present German rationing system will have to continue for at least one year after the restoration of peace and possibly longer.

MILITARY PLAN

The German Ministry of Economics, he said, was really the Ministry of Economic Warfare, for it was responsible for the working of the German Four-Year Plan, which was, in effect, a military plan, and it participated in the building of the war machine, such as the manufacture of guns.

"Simultaneously with this German announcement of the depressing prospect in store for Europe after the war comes the announcement from London that a committee has been appointed, under Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, to study the reserves of food for the immediate relief of the continent of Europe," said the speaker. "This announcement can be accepted as the first step in the fulfilment of the Prime Minister's recent statement that it was the intention of the British Government to build up reserves of food stocks throughout the world and deliver them to European countries as soon as they are liberated."

The speaker went on to say that this war would divide up the world into two parts—that which would have too much and that which would have too little.

"The lack of raw materials in Europe, he added, was not only ruining the German war machine, but ruining the people wherever the Germans ruled."

GERMAN PEACE PLAN

Herr Hitler's plan for Europe was, a greater Germany which would manufacture Europe's goods—but the stater under Germany would have the job of feeding Europe and Germany as well.

"That is the sort of peace which the Germans have promised to Europe," said the speaker. "If it provides very little for the half of the world that has too much, it provides less for the half that has too little."

"This new Europe of the future is ready to supply itself with food and as many raw materials which it can make artificially and the people of the new Europe will be expected to help the Germans to go on building their war machine for more wars. That is Herr Hitler's plan for his new order in Europe."

BRITISH IDEAS

The speaker went on to compare this planning with the British ideas. Britain, he said, had invited the collaboration of all free countries, to solve the problem arising from the war and which would result in some people having too much and others too little. It was to be solved in an orderly way.

"The political and economic difficulties which will effect the world then will be less grave than a Nazi dominated Europe," he said. "If Herr Hitler had his way, they will be graver still."

"The thinking man will think further now. He will realise that Europe will perish altogether under a Hitler rule."

"The British blockade, therefore, will sooner or later win the war—the stricter the blockade the sooner it will be won."

The speaker said that as Britain was on the road to victory it was natural to look ahead, that was why the Committee under Sir Frederick Leith-Ross had been set up.

BLOOD PLASMA FOR BRITAIN

Story Of Scientific Progress, Medical Organisation And Human Generosity

Behind the news, that since August 15 nearly 6,000 men and women from all stations of life have donated about 3,000 quarts of blood to save the lives of wounded British soldiers and civilians is a story which needs to be told—a story of scientific progress, of medical organization, of human generosity, writes Waldemar Kaempfert.

It is a story that goes back to ancient times. Even the Egyptians, Greeks and Romans of antiquity resorted to blood transfusion. Was it because of some mystic belief in the magical properties of sound blood or because they were good physicians, considering the state of medicine?

By the time Jean Baptiste Denys, of Montpellier, physician to Louis XIV, performed the first successful transfusion (June 15, 1667) a good deal of the superstition had evaporated and the science remained, strongly reinforced by Harvey's researches on the circulation. Denys used sheep's blood, a risky procedure. His luck was with him. Both the sheep and the human sufferer who needed blood survived.

Despite dramatic successes transfusion was not in high medical favour until about twenty years ago. In half the cases patients died, either because of infection or because the blood clotted and curdled.

When surgeons learned how to cope with infection the first obstacle was virtually overcome. Clotting outside of the body was later prevented by removing the fibrin or clotting agent of the blood. In 1914 sodium citrate was introduced—an anti-coagulant. The second obstacle was overcome.

Despite this progress deaths still occurred after transfusion. Nobel laureate, Dr. Karl Landsteiner, discovered the reason. Before he began his researches, at the opening of the century, it had been assumed that the blood of healthy John Doe was substantially like the blood of equally healthy Richard Roe, so that the bloodstream of either could be tapped to save the life of Henry Smith, whose arteries and veins had been half drained as the result of a railway accident.

Landsteiner found that there were four types of blood, internationally designated as "O," "A," "B" and "AB." If John Doe's or Richard Roe's blood did not match Henry Smith's, transfusion too often ended in death. Landsteiner's work was of revolutionary importance. Death now rarely follows transfusion with proper matching.

During the last war army surgeons were confronted with a transfusion problem which totally eclipsed in its dimensions anything that the combined hospitals of a whole nation have to face.

Dr. O. H. Robertson, now of the University of Chicago and then at the front, conceived the blood bank—blood to which sodium citrate was added to prevent clumping and which was kept in bottles in a refrigerator. The Russians were the first to develop the plan on a large scale and went so far as to rush suicides and the victims of fatal accidents to hospitals to drain off their blood. In the Spanish civil war bottled, classified blood was systematically delivered like so much milk.

Stored blood will not keep longer than two or three weeks even in a refrigerator. Something was wanted which would last for years. More research was conducted, with the result that we now have the plasma bank, and it is to the plasma banks that 6,000 men and women have made their contribution.

Plasma is that part of the blood which remains after the white and red cells have been removed. It constitutes about half the bulk of whole blood, and it can be kept for several years without deteriorating. Fully as important is the fact that the use of plasma does away with matching. Provided a donor is free from disease, his plasma can be transfused into any sufferer without danger. On the other hand, plasma meets transfusion needs only in certain ailments.

TEAM FOUND TECHNIQUE
The technique of extracting plasma from blood and keeping it is that developed by Dr. Scudder of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research and his associates. Drs. L. G. Longworth and T. S. Shedlovsky, a research team directed by Dr. Duncan A. MacInnes.

Each donor gives up a pint of blood. A little sodium citrate prevents clotting. The container, carefully sealed, goes into a refrigerator. Before the red and white cells are removed to obtain plasma a Wasserman test for syphilis is made. If the report is positive the donation is destroyed.

Whole blood is much like whole milk in its physical properties. Let a bottle of milk stand and the cream rises; let a bottle of blood stand and the heavy red and white cells settle, so that the plasma can be siphoned off. It takes about a week for blood to separate into plasma and cells. To save time laboratories resort to dairy methods.

In other words, they whirl the red and white cells out of whole blood in a centrifuge, which is nothing but a special cream separator. Centrifuging takes exactly forty-five minutes, and the rest of the process from eighteen to twenty-four hours.

All along the line whole blood plasma is handled as if it were a newborn baby. Centrifuging, for example, takes place in a dust-proof, air-conditioned room. To prevent bacteria from growing a little mercuric iodine is added. Globulins (proteins) must be kept in solution, and so a salt solution is poured in—as much salt solution as there is plasma. A small sample is put aside for bacteriological examination—to make sure that no micro-organisms have gained a foothold. Then the batch is placed in cold storage for emergency use.

MUCH BLOOD TO BE NEEDED
Though the French armies have collapsed, there is sure to be heavy fighting to prevent the Suez Canal from falling into Italian hands; there are engagements at sea, and there are civilians in British towns who are maimed as German bombers rain down on factories, wharves and houses. Blood transfusions are as necessary as ever to save lives.

Most of the men on whom British hospitals would normally draw for blood are in the army or in munitions works, and the women are for the most part in offices or factories. Great Britain needs blood. Sir Edward Mellanby, director of the Medical Council of Great Britain, says so.

The work of collecting blood in this country for Great Britain is directed by the Red Cross and the Blood Transfusion Betterment Association. The Red Cross does the appealing for donors, and the association assigns the volunteers to a hospital. Professional donors are paid for their bloods. Volunteers are asked to give theirs in a cause which is as much their own as it is that of England.

New York City owes much to the New York Academy of Medicine for the part it has played in placing blood transfusion on a satisfactory legal and medical basis. In fact the Blood Transfusion Betterment Association is the academy's child—born eleven years ago.

Though physicians were resorting to blood transfusion more and more after Landsteiner's classic researches, there was need of a better system for recruiting and paying donors, need of laws to protect donors, patients and physicians, and need of research in blood transfusion.

Accordingly, the academy made recommendations which were adopted by the City Health Department with the result that New York is admirably organized to play its part in the bloody but necessary business of supplying Great Britain with plasma.

As for research, the next step has already been taken. Plasma can be dried—reduced to powder. The scientific work has been done but the technicians must now devise the necessary large-scale machinery—a matter of perhaps years.

For the time being the collecting of plasma is confined to New York

FLIMSY BASIS OF JAPAN'S ADHERENCE TO AXIS

SHANGHAI, Nov. 15.—Observers here considered highly significant the statement by Yonoso Mayeda, director of the diet bureau of Japan's national service association, that Premier Prince Konoye, president of the association, "will never lead nor preside over the Japanese nation as a Japanese 'führer'." The association is Japan's new single party.

Japanese efforts to distinguish between Japanese and German totalitarianism have been highly noticeable throughout the Orient recently and observers have been increasingly impressed by the flimsiness of the basis on which Japan adhered to the Axis.

NEW SITUATION
Having carried flatly twice within the last week the report that Governor-General of Indo-China Admiral Jean Decoux had resigned, Domel yesterday carried from Hanoi dispatches that "Decoux told Japanese correspondents he was confident Japan and Indo-China through mutual understanding would be able to achieve realization of the new situation based on confidence and respect for their joint benefit."

Domel is rapidly acquiring a monopoly of facilities for transmitting news from Indo-China, even to the exclusion of Havas, which the Nazi-dominated Vichy government bought Wednesday.

MANY DIFFICULTIES
United Press Correspondent Melville Jacoby was recently invited to leave Indo-China and was informed that Domel alone would be permitted to report such incidents as stoppage of American ships and seizure of allegedly American-owned cargoes. Jacoby so far has successfully declined to accept the invitation.

Japan obviously is encountering difficulties in living up entirely to the spirit of the Axis treaty which, even if it was not in reality the military pact it was advertised

EVANGELICAL WORK IN TIBET

Mr. Griebner gave an interesting talk on evangelical work in Tibet last evening at the Gospel Hall, Duddell Street.

He related an amusing story of how the first batch of missionaries, who attempted to convert Tibetans, were stoned at the market and driven away by the natives.

However, after a long period of hard work, said Mr. Griebner, they succeeded in establishing more than one dozen self-supported churches on the border of Tibet and they are now continuing their work with more confidence.

Cabinet Information Board Formed

TOKYO, Nov. 28 (Reuter).—The Plenary Session of the Privy Council in the presence of the Emperor yesterday morning approved the organization of a Cabinet Information Board as proposed by the Government.

It is understood that the Privy Council has approved of other important measures as submitted by the Government.

Probably blood banks will be established in other cities as the urgency of Britain's need grows. The experience already gained will benefit not only those who are fighting against Hitler or who may have been maimed by one of Hitler's bombs, but the United States as well. Medical care plays a conspicuous part in our military preparations, which means that a million men under arms on land and on ship will need blood banks as much as they need shot and shell.

Interesting Talk At Y's Men's Tiffin

Nazi Ration Stamps Exhibited

Dr. Chan Wah, who was in Germany for the first three months of the present war, was the speaker yesterday at the weekly tiffin meeting of the Hongkong Y's Men's Club at the St. Francis Hotel.

Among Dr. Chan's interesting souvenirs of his stay in Germany were several sheets of ration stamps for various food commodities. Without these, it is very nearly impossible to get anything there in the nature of food.

Dr. Chan returned to Hongkong in June. He spent some three months in Switzerland after leaving Germany in January, and travelled via Italy. While in Germany, he attended and gained a degree from Frankfurt University, where he took a course in Chemistry.

FACTORIES VISITED
During his stay in the land of the Nazis, he had occasion to visit many factories in Köln, Frankfurt-on-Main and Ludwigschafen, and it was on his impressions of these visits that Dr. Chan spoke.

At the meeting yesterday, the Chairman, Mr. C. P. Wong, welcomed back to the Club the Regional Director of Y's Men's Clubs for South China, Mr. W. Yinson Lee.

It was announced that a Christmas Party for the children of the members would be held as last year.

NEW GOVERNOR OF PORTO RICO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (Reuter).—The new governor of Porto Rico will be Mr. Jose Miguel Gallardo, who has been Commissioner for Education of Porto Rico since 1937.

Mr. Gallardo, whose appointment was announced by Mr. Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, yesterday, succeeds Admiral William Leahy, who was recently appointed United States Ambassador to Vichy.

EMPHATIC DENIAL BY AIR MARSHAL

doing for us," continued Sir Philip. "Even before the war, there was a steady flow of young Canadians into this country who wanted to learn to fly and take their place in the defence of the Empire. When war broke out, they formed a considerable part of the personnel of our squadrons. It is they who, with the bombing squadrons of the other dominions have borne the brunt of the struggle."

"In Canada itself, since the war broke out, the Royal Canadian Air Force has been largely expanded. Not only have they formed the major part of the squadrons which have arrived in this country, but Canada's most important contribution is the Empire Air Training Scheme. This dominion has now established a magnificent training organization, which is sending pilots and air crews in ever increasing numbers to Great Britain. By next year, these numbers will have increased to an extent that will have a great effect on the progress of the war in 1941."

Sir Philip then went on to refer to some outstanding feats by Canadian airmen. He referred to one squadron leader who had lost both his legs in a flying crash before the war, and stated that even this did not prevent him from flying so well that he even now leads a squadron into battle with great skill.

MEASURE OF QUALITY

"I am rather chary about mentioning this particular individual," said Sir Philip, "because the Germans will say that we are being driven to desperate circumstances to use such men. However, I must say that this man's determination and courage are the measure of the quality of the young men of the Royal Air Force today."

Sir Philip declared that the British people had always found these Canadian airmen delightful visitors and that it had been a pleasure to offer them the hospitality of England. He had been struck by the enthusiasm which they all showed in air matters and the work of the R.A.F. was of absorbing interest to all of them.

"Sir Philip turned next to the situation in Europe.

"I have a few words to say about the situation in Europe," he said. "It is very confused. Signor Mussolini's venture into Greece must have complicated matters for Herr Hitler. The plan for penetration into the Balkans seems to have been arrested for the moment and there are solid indications of a hardening in Bulgaria's attitude. King Boris seems to be playing a more 'landslide' game than King Carol."

BETTER PROSPECTS
"Bulgaria's prospects of resistance are likely to be better than Rumania's" and on Bulgaria's southern border is Turkey, unflinching by threats and determined to resist any attack or Von Papen's cajolery.

"The Greek victory has had a wonderful effect and we have reason to hope that there will be no landslide towards Germany."

"Once again, the control of sea communication is going to be the deciding factor of Greece's effort. If the Italians can check the Greek advance and maintain control of their ports in Albania and put reinforcements into Albania, the Greek progress may be held up to enable a counter-offensive to be made. The action of our Fleet at Taranto may well prove to be a decisive factor. It should enable our Mediterranean Fleet so to threaten the Italian communications that it will be hard to bring up the required reinforcements."

"The Royal Air Force can damage these Albanian ports so that the unloading of ships there will be made impossible and it becomes impossible for Italy to send troops into Albania, she will be defeated and Signor Mussolini's adventure will be brought to an ignominious conclusion."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT REPLIES TO WELL-WISHERS WITH PLEDGE TO WORK WITH THEM

President Roosevelt has made a pledge to "work shoulder to shoulder with all who place true Americanism above all other considerations." This is embodied in a statement he made in answer to the thousands of congratulatory messages which he has received upon his re-election.

The statement was released by the High Commissioner's office and reads as follows:

"In the face of a constantly mounting number of congratulatory messages, I feel that I must in this statement extend my hearty thanks to all who have thus remembered me. I am heartened and encouraged by all these messages of good will from thousands of well-wishers.

NATIONAL UNITY
"Not less appreciated than the others are the pledges of loyalty and support received from sincere men and women who did not cast their votes for the administration. These messages in particular reflect a spirit of national unity in essential things which is most welcome. In union we shall find our true strength."

"To all who have sent their greetings I give this assurance of gratitude and heartfelt appreciation. In acknowledging these pledges of loyal support and full co-operation in forwarding the interests of the nation, I pledge anew my determination to work shoulder to shoulder with all who place true Americanism above all other considerations."

GEN. ABE BACK IN NANKING

TOKYO, Nov. 28 (Reuter).—General Abe, Japanese Ambassador to the Nanking regime, who returned to Nanking on Wednesday after one month's absence, was greeted on arrival by numerous Japanese and Chinese officials.

TRUSTED SERGEANT'S MORAL LAPSE; GAOL

It was revealed at Marlborough-street recently that Sergeant William Hoddington Smith, 40, of Stone Park-avenue, Beckenham, Kent, who was charged with improper conduct in Hyde Park, had been recommended for the M.B.E.

According to his commanding officer, who served with him in France, Smith was the first man chosen from the depot of his regiment for special duty at Versailles, "because he could be trusted to resist its temptations in war time."

Smith was fined £5 and sentenced to one month's imprisonment. Patrick O'Gorman, 17, a kitchen porter of Sussex-gardens, W., who appeared with Smith, was also charged with assaulting the police.

He was bound over for 12 months. After two police-officers had described what they saw, Mr. Christmas Humphries, defending, stated he did not challenge their evidence except on the question of Smith's identity.

The incidents of which the police complained occurred half an hour after black-out, and there were many people in the park at the time.

Smith, Mr. Humphries continued, had been employed by a railway company for 25 years, and there was nothing against his moral character.

"Help Up" Guards, Fined £12

Here is a story of the "hold-up" of members of the Home Guard. It was told in Court at East Grinstead, Sussex, recently.

The guards were resting in their reading room at St. John's, Crowborough, when at 3.30 in the morning they heard a knock at the door.

The door was opened and a man greeted them with a double-barrelled gun aimed at them.

"Come on, stick 'em up all of you; I know you are not armed," he said.

DISARMED
The Home Guardsmen flung themselves on the stranger, and after a violent struggle he was disarmed.

The intruder was John Hussey, of Greystones, St. John's, Crowborough.

He pleaded guilty to interfering with persons in His Majesty's service and to carrying a gun without a licence.

On his behalf Captain A. H. Hicks said that Hussey suffered from insomnia, and was out for a walk.

Thinking that no sentries were on duty, he played this trick. It was never intended to be an interference but was done because he thought the unarmed condition of the men should be remedied.

Hussey, described as a retired company director, and a former picket commander in the Home Guard, was fined £10 or one month on the first summons, £1 on the second and £1 8s. 6d. costs.

CHINESE REFUGEES REPATRIATED
According to the Hongkong Office of the Kwantung Relief Committee, 400 Chinese refugees have been repatriated to Kwangtung since Sept. 20.

Another group which was to leave for the interior on Wednesday had to postpone its trip owing to the unsettled conditions prevailing at Shenyang.

THE WEATHER

Maximum temperature yesterday was 73 and the minimum 66. Total rainfall since Jan. 1 is 117.59 inches against an average of 83.98.

The Royal Observatory report states:—
The anti-cyclone has moved to the north of Japan and another is developing over Mongolia.

MALNUTRITION IN COLONY

PROPAGANDA FILM TO BE SHOWN

An outstanding propaganda film, entitled "Enough to Eat" which has been exhibited widely throughout Great Britain is to be shown shortly in the Colony.

In a running commentary by Professor Julian Huxley, the relationship between poverty and malnutrition is emphasised. Stress is also laid upon the need for a properly balanced diet if a satisfactory standard of health is to be attained and maintained.

It is apparent from the film that a not inconsiderable section of the community on the lower wage levels do not have enough to eat even in England where free milk or cheap milk and free meals are given to babies, pre-school and school children, expectant and nursing mothers on a large scale.

LESSONS OF FILM

The lessons taught by this film are particularly applicable to the Colony where the poverty and the ignorance of food values, combined with a prejudice against certain cheap but valuable foodstuffs, play such an important part in causing inefficiency, ill-health and preventable deaths.

The film is being shown under the auspices of the Hongkong Government Nutrition Research Committee at the Queen's Theatre, by courtesy of the Manager at 12 noon on Monday, Dec. 2.

U.S. LOAN TO CHINA LIKELY

Based On Purchase Of Defence Metals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (Reuter).—Loans for China, Argentina, Cuba and Chile are in prospect. As for China, Mr. Jesse Jones, the Federal Loan Administrator, told a press conference that "as long as the Chinese are in trouble, we want to be friendly and help them."

He added that the loan would probably be based on United States purchase of Chinese metals useful for defence.

Replying to a question, Mr. Jones said that he knew nothing about a loan being considered for Indo-China but that negotiations were progressing with a number of Latin American countries, notably Argentina, Cuba and Chile.

BIG INCREASE IN BRITISH IMPORTS

LONDON, Nov. 28 (Reuter).—British imports in October, with a total of £85,000,000, show an increase of £23,000,000 over the figures for October, 1939, and an increase of £4,500,000 over September, 1940.

Exports totalled £23,000,000 being a decrease of £7,750,000 on September and of £1,000,000 compared with October last year.

The fall in the export figure is due to a considerable extent to the change in Customs procedure.

U.S. Wheat, Rice Arrive In Shanghai

CHUNGKING, Nov. 28 (Central).—Two consignments of American food supply—150 tons of rice and 330 tons of wheat—purchased by the American Red Cross Society for refugee relief in Japanese-occupied territories, in China arrived in Shanghai on Tuesday, according to a Shanghai dispatch.

In addition, the dispatch states, another large consignment of American wheat and rice is now being transported to "Free China" from Rangoon via the Burma Road.

In order to afford adequate relief to the Chinese war refugees, the dispatch states that the American Red Cross Society is planning to purchase another 10,000 tons of rice and wheat and a large quantity of medical supplies to be sent to China.

SOARING PRICES

As a result of tension in French Indo-China, the price of rice in Shanghai has risen considerably. Ordinarily large consignments of Annamese rice are imported into Shanghai.

The Shanghai Chinese papers are urging the authorities of the International Settlement and the French Concession to take drastic measures to curb manipulation of food prices.

U.S. LOANS TO BRITAIN

Question Postponed Till New Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (Reuter).—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously postponed until January action on proposals to relax legal restrictions in order to permit loans to Britain.

The proposals included a resolution by Senator King to repeal the Johnson and Neutrality Acts, and the proposal by Senator Nye to enquire into British financial resources in the United States.

Senator George, Chairman of the Committee, however told Pressmen that he had "no doubt that the question of further aid for Britain will be presented in some form to the next congress."

Senator George added that he sympathized with the Administration's policy in giving aid to Britain and was of the opinion that extent of such aid should be determined by technical experts and that any moves to extend financial assistance should be preceded by an investigation of British resources.

Count Teleki, Hungarian Prime Minister, has been awarded the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Stephen for services recently rendered to the country.

SINGAPORE TURNED INTO MELTING POT OF BRITAIN'S FIGHTING FORCES

SINGAPORE, Nov. 16.—The war has made Singapore the melting pot of the Empire's fighting forces, writes David S. Watts, in the Manila Bulletin. On this small island, one of the most strongly defended citadels in the world, troops from every corner of the British Empire are clustered together.

Scotch Highlanders and British regiments of the line, Tamils, Sikhs, Punjabis, Australian airmen, and the local Malay forces are woven together with one aim, to defend the Empire in the Orient.

MALAY REGIMENT

Although the Malay regiment has not had any fighting experience the men appear to be magnificent soldiers. They handle modern mechanical weapons as if accustomed to them from childhood, while their bearing is as smart as any crack British regiment.

In jungle fighting these Malays should prove unexcelled for the jungles are their homes. It is interesting to watch them merge almost completely with the undergrowth during manoeuvres. If ever war comes to Malaya the enemy would find the Malay soldier a tremendous factor.

The Malays would not have to fight alone. Their comrades-in-arms of the English and the Scotch regiments, are equally efficient and highly trained.

EAST SURREYS

The East Surreys, who arrived recently from Shanghai, are equipped with modern weapons. At a recent demonstration, Bren Gun carriers, supported by infantry, made light work of some of the most difficult country around Singapore. The men were trained to the high pitch of efficiency.

The same is true of the Gordon Highlanders. A glance at the faces of these men, even in relaxation, convinces observers that they would be hardy fighters.

These are only a few of the British regiments in Singapore. There are others which have equally glorious historical traditions behind them.

Artillery and the anti-aircraft regiments would play a leading role if the security of Singapore Island and fortress was ever threatened. Furnished with modern equipment and trained to that pitch of perfection for which the British artillery regiments are noted, they should inflict a heavy toll on any attacking force.

They would receive strong support from their kindred Indian unit, the Hongkong and Singapore Royal Artillery. The Indians are also skilful and precise in handling modern anti-aircraft equipment.

MOUNTAIN REGIMENT
Perhaps the most spectacular of all the Indian regiments is the Indian mountain regiment. The men are Sikhs and Punjabis, many of them over six feet in height and they handle giant howitzers with what seems, to the uninitiated, almost ridiculous ease.

The high standard of the troops defending Singapore is only one indication of the latent strength here, however. The beaches are lined with barbed wire. Pill boxes have been placed at every possible strategic point. These are obvious indications that careful planning has made this island as impregnable as possible.

There are also military secrets, such as heavy shore batteries, searchlight positions, anti-aircraft gun emplacements and sea defences.

This strength, whether hidden or displayed, is supported by numerous squadrons of the Royal Air Force and the Royal Australian Air Force, the great potential strength of the naval base and the warships which carry out ceaseless patrols of the Far Eastern waters.

They were alleged to have photographed the Japanese military encampment at Haiphong but were later released.

BERLIN, Nov. 27 (Reuter).—Admiral Abrial, Governor-General of Algeria, has arrived in Vichy, according to the German news agency yesterday. He had an interview with several Ministers including the Ministers for War and Finance.

BRITISH LOGIC TOO HIGH FOR NAZI PARTY

BERLIN, Nov. 28 (Reuter).—The "Crazy British" is the title of an article in the Nazi Party news-sheet which complains that the British are continuing the war contrary to all rules of logic.

The article declares: "No sensible person can follow the acrobatics of British thought today. That Germany cannot be conquered in war, which has in any case been decided on the battlefield, is not doubted by anyone in possession of normal mental faculties. The directors of British policy decline to recognise this primary law of human logic."

After speaking of British "hallucinations" the article declares that the problem of finding a solution for this war is no longer one of politics but psychology.

NEW CANCER CURE METHOD BY X-RAY: TRANSPARENT MODEL OF A TORSO USED

An improved method of using x-rays in the treatment of cancer hidden inside the body was demonstrated at the annual convention of the American Medical Association recently.

This method, devised by Dr. S. J. Hawley, Roentgenologist at the Gettysburg Memorial Hospital, Danville, Pa., U.S.A. is demonstrated with a transparent model of a human torso, used with a modern Westinghouse x-ray apparatus.

"It has long been known that x-rays are capable of destroying cancerous tissue," Dr. Hawley explained to delegates to the medical gathering, "thus permitting normal tissue to replace it and again grow and function according to the laws of nature."

However, in the treatment of cancer hidden deep beneath the skin one of the limitations is the amount of x-rays which the skin can tolerate during treatment. The x-rays must pass through the skin before penetrating to the cancer, and since the skin is close to the x-ray tube, it is always subjected to a large dose than the cancer. In some cases, though it is known that a certain dosage will destroy the cancer, this amount cannot be given because the patient's skin will not stand the larger amount, to which it would be subjected.

"To get a larger dose into the deeply situated cancer without harming the skin, it has been common practice for more than fifteen years to aim two, three, four or more beams of x-rays from the surface through separate areas of the skin. This allows a large dose to be given to the cancer while spreading the dose over a large area of the skin to minimize the dose to any one skin area."

PATIENT ROTATED

Dr. Hawley's method is said to be an improvement on this established custom. In order to spread the dose over the largest skin surface while always aiming the beam at the cancer, he places the patient on a turn table and rotates him during the treatment.

(The patient is positioned on the turn table so that the cancer is centred on the centre of the turn table and the x-ray beam is aimed directly at the cancer. During the treatment the rotation of the patient causes the x-ray beam to spread over the large skin area which continually moves in the beam.)

By means of this method it is said to be likely that some of the limitations of a large dose to the cancer will be removed and hidden cancers as successfully treated as though they were on the surface.

NEW YORK'S WORLD'S FAIR

Financial Failure But Great Show

New York's World's Fair of 1939-40 closed a financial failure, but to fairgoers it was a great show while it lasted.

Nearly 500,000 persons attended the final day, pouring through the gates at a rate of more than 1,000 per minute—a record day for the entire Autumn.

As soon as the last fairgoers had left, demolition crews began tearing down more than 400 buildings to convert the site into a huge 1,250-acre park, with six miles of bicycle paths, 72 tennis courts, numerous baseball and football fields and other features.

Bondholders, who subscribed more than U.S. $27,000,000 for the Fair, will receive only about 28 per cent. on their investment, but most said they were satisfied in any case since they mainly were exhibitors and concessionaires who benefited from attendance at exhibits.

The outstanding success of the Fair was the "Aquacade"—water carnival starring Eleanor Holmes to which 3,000,000 persons paid admission.

The biggest free show, General Motors' "Futurama," was visited by nearly 10,000,000 persons.

Guardsman, Girl Fell In Love On Escape Ship

Moondlight June nights at sea have long made a perfect scene for lovers, but when bombs drop around the ship romance might well be absent.

It was in that setting, however, that an English-born girl, fleeing from France, and a Guardsman fell in love. Three months after their meeting, they were married at Burnt Oak Register Office, Hendon.

The bride was Miss Patricia McElhone, aged 24, of Shire Hall Park, Hendon, daughter of Mr. Harry McElhone, proprietor of the famous Harry's New York Bar in Paris, and the groom was Pte. William Beddard, 29, a native of Glasgow, and now in the Grenadier Guards.

Their romance began at Bordeaux on June 18. Miss McElhone, with her father, mother, and younger brother, were waiting for the Dutch ship Stat Harlem to take them to England when some British soldiers and three officers arrived.

The soldiers had fought their way through to the coast after the collapse of France, and reached Bordeaux weary, footsore, and hungry. Pte. Beddard was one of the exhausted band given food and drink by the McElhones.

Soon after the ship left harbour German planes started bombing, but by the time an English port was reached with all on board safe and well, the English girl and the Guardsman had fallen in love. Recently, the happy couple were on their honeymoon.

One of Pte. Beddard's officers lent him a car for the wedding and added a tea and dinner service as a present.

The father of the bride, Harry McElhone, as he is known to thousands all over the world, is a native of Dundee, but was a globe-trotter before he set up in 1923 his famous bar in Paris, rendezvous of princes, diplomats, and the world of fashion.

Immigration Bill Debate

Mr. Tam that the Immigration Officer and his deputy both previously worked in the S.C.A. department and both spoke Chinese. He was sure that they would not administer the Bill in any hostile fashion.

The Attorney-General made it clear that residential certificates, or certificates that a person has been in the Colony for such and such a length of time, would be accepted in lieu of passports from any person who was outside the Colony and wished to return. No permits were necessary for persons who were not going away from the Colony.

When the Bill was considered in committee, Mr. Lo, referring to Clause 13, asked if it was incumbent on the Immigration Officer that he should take security? The Chinese were particularly anxious to know whether security could be in bond or the chop of a respectable firm.

The Attorney-General replied that the Immigration Officer was not bound to ask for cash security for the full amount. A chop or a guarantee would be acceptable.

The Bill, with amendments to the schedule of fees, was then read a third time.

GOVERNOR ANXIOUS

His Excellency the Acting Governor: I am particularly anxious to get this Bill passed without controversy or division. I am very grateful to you, Mr. Lo, for meeting the Government halfway on the amendments. I am also grateful that there has been no serious controversy on the subject.

The Council then adjourned sine die.
